

2 February 2012

Dear Parents/Carers

Adverse Weather Warning – 4 - 5 February 2012

You will be aware that current Met Office weather warnings indicate some possible snow disruption in our region this coming Saturday night/Sunday morning. Clearly we hope that any disruption will not run into Monday or any of the next working week.

Obviously, should we have any specific issues caused by this weather, our usual Adverse Weather arrangements (detailed in the News section of our website) will be actioned.

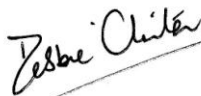

Should we need to either close our school or open late at any point, our School Closure page on our Virtual Learning Environment ('Moodle') contains plenty of appropriate and up to date curriculum work for all students at all levels and in all subjects.

Please access this page via our website homepage. It is our expectation that work will be completed by students, at home during any enforced period of school closure.

Clearly, we will do our utmost, as ever to avoid the utter inconvenience of any closure.

My very best wishes to you all.

Yours sincerely

Debbie Clinton
Headteacher

DHC/CS